EXCITEMENT ON MARKET SQUARE.

The Mayor Orders Ex-Marshal Waddle to

Calaboose Just before twelve o'clock yesterday, quite an excitement was created by the execution of a command from Mayor Van Gilder to arrest Samuel P. Waddle, late Chief Marshal, and incarcerate him in the city prison. It gave rise to a good deal of talk, as Mr. Waddle has always sustained the character of a moral, upright man, usually quiet and inoffensive. He is Waddle as an officer, we have at the same time accorded the character above ascribed—that of n orderly, quiet and inoffensive man.

The provocation to the Mayor's action, according to his own statement, was that Waddle had been making threats and seeking a difficulty with him all morning. As they met on Market Square and commenced talking, he (Waddle) kept his hands in his pocket. When interrogated as to whether he was armed, the Mayor said he didn't know. By-standers who regarded the affair as bordering on an outrage, if not one, suggested that Mr. Waddle should be searched and let it be known if he really had any weapons, or entertained murderous intentions toward the Mayor. But no one seemed to seriously to believe that he was armed, or that he really intended any personal injury to any

Mr. Waddle claims that he was talking to some friends about the election. Some one says, "Waddle, how is the election?" He replies, "All right." Just then Mayor Van Gilder came up and says, "I understand you are going for me." Waddle replies, "Yes, you can talk when surrounded by your friends," or words to that effect, as he claims, when Mr. Van Gilder says to his policemen, who were near by, "Lock him up, take him and lock him up," which command was quickly executed, and the Mayor was triumphant. Put both statements together, and while Wad-The barometer will probably continue to fall from dle did not, perhaps, act with prudence, every the lower lakes to the middle and east Atlantic, with one is bound to admit that the Mayor acted hastily. Waddle signified his willingness to be searched for weapons, which was not done, no one beliving that he had any. Every one who heard anything of the Mayor's remarks about Mr. Waddle, the substance of which we gave in the CHRONICLE of yesterday, (he was the man with the star) must admit that they were undignified and calculated to provoke a personal difficulty, if Waddle was a man of any spirit or had any self-respect. Indeed some of his friends seemed to doubt their correctness, but a number of those present corroborate what our reporter says about the substance of the Mayor's remarks in reference to Mr. Waddle.

We must believe that the Mayor acted hastily in the imprisonment of the ex-Marshal, and that it was a species of tyranny that will not prove palatable to the people of Knoxville. If Sewing Machine office, 119 Gay street up it was not an arbitrary and unwarranted as-sumption of power, without any reasonable pretext, it borders upon it, according to all the facts we have been able to get.

was continued until 2 o clock P. M., on Mon-

The matter was the subject of conversation in every circle for the balance of the day. Many were indignant that men's liberties should be regarded so lightly by those in authority. Many thought it an instance of a man using official and social position for the purpose of avenging himself upon a foe who has been less fortunate in life than he. Some thought it a great outrage that a man should be thrown into prison without due process of law. Still others talk about it in a different way justifying the Mayor in what he did. Perhaps after the facts are all known the public will be able to judge whether or not an outrage has been committed, and if so, by whom.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Citizens of Knoxville . Having been solicited by many, to allow my name to be used as a candidate for Mayor for the ensuing year, I have, after mature reflec-tion, consented to do so. My administration for the last two years is before you. Much has been done; much remains to be done, During this time your city has had unprecedented prosperity. From general indications, the spirit of improvement during the coming year will far exceed anything in the past. While I fully appreciate the responsibilities that attach to the chief executive office of your city, I can only pledge my honest efforts, as in the past, to meet your approbation. I am truly grateful for the honor which many of you propose for me, and if elected, will make every effort for the general good, to the best of my ability.

Very respectfully, JNO. S. VAN GILDER. December 6, 1871. tde.

Re-Animating the Hair.

When the hair ceases to draw from the scalp the natural lubricant which is its sustenance, its vitality is, as it were, suspended, and if not promptly attended to, baldness will be the cer-tain result. The one sure method of avoiding such an unpleasant catastrophe is to use Lyon's Katharion, which, when well rubbed into the scalp, will speedily re-animate the hair and prevent it from falling out. Besides that, this inimitable resuscitant and strengthener of the Hair nourishes and stimulates its young and ten-der fibres, removes all obstacles to their growth in the shape of dandruff and dirt, and ultimateproduces a new crop of hair, stronger, glosier, and twice as abundant as the old. As a hair dressing it is notably the most agreeable, refreshing and serviceable article ever placed upon a dressing-table.
